

Sneha: A Journey of Growth

From School Days to Career

1. School Days – Finding Herself

Sneha was a quiet student who observed more than she spoke. She was not a topper, but she was consistent. Every day, she improved a little, building discipline and curiosity step by step.

2. Facing Self-Doubt

During her teenage years, Sneha often doubted herself. She compared herself with others and felt behind. Still, she chose to continue learning, even when she felt unsure.

3. College Life – Starting Fresh

In college, Sneha chose computer science without strong basics. She spent hours learning, practicing, and failing. Each failure slowly turned into understanding.

4. First Projects

Sneha began building small projects. They were not perfect, but they gave her confidence. She learned that action matters more than perfection.

Continuing the Journey

5. Internship Struggles

Getting her first internship was difficult. Sneha faced many rejections, but she kept improving and applying until she finally got a chance at a startup.

6. Learning in the Real World

During her internship, she worked on real problems, fixed bugs, and learned teamwork. This experience changed her mindset and built confidence.

7. Corporate Life – Becoming Confident

After graduation, Sneha entered corporate life. At first, it felt overwhelming, but she stayed consistent. Over time, she became confident and independent.

Sneha was never the smartest person in the room, but she was always the one who kept going. That consistency made all the difference in her journey.
